The Appetite

also be increased by certain stimulants, but these leave it worse than before. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by taking A[yer's] Sarsaparilla. This medicine is purely vegetable, and contains the curative principles of the best vegetable tonics and alteratives known to medical science. They contain neither alcohol nor mineral poisons, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, became greatly emaciated, and was constantly troubled with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted four eminent physicians, but received little or no benefit from their prescriptions. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, without confidence, however, that it would do me any good. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and by the time I finished two bottles of this medicine my tendency to headache had entirely left me, and I became strong and well.—Daniel M Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for several years, with Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and before finishing half a box of the medicine my appetite and strength were restored.—C O Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels and for all diseases caused by indigestion. I Stomach and Liver. I suffered for more than three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—Philip Lockwood, Tipton, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from indigestion and Headache; was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but gave me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B.

PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL.

—Ex-Senator Wallace, of Pennsylvania, has made one million five hundred thousand dollars since he left the Senate.

—Roscoe Conkling has a passion for costly colored handkerchiefs. He likes the brightest colors.—Cleveland Leader

—W. L. Greeley, a grand-nephew of the great Horace, is the proprietor of a barber shop and a fiddle at Spring Creek Station, Pa.

—Olive Logan, who has been trying to make her home in Washington, has concluded to return to London and Paris. She has lived so long abroad that she finds the fairest cities of the Republic dull, uncongenial, and unæsthetic.

—Thorndike Rice has bought the suit of clothes which Washington wore at his first inauguration. It is made of a glossy silk fabric, woven in France expressly for the first President. There are coat, waistcoat, knee trousers and gold knee and shoe buckles.

—Count Robilant, the Italian statesman, spent over twenty years of his life at Vienna as Ambassador. He lost his left arm in battle. He is the natural son of King Charles Albert, of Sardinia, and, therefore, a kind of uncle to King Humbert.—Chicago Herald.

—The death rate of England is decreasing, and 150 people are added yearly to each 10,000. At the present rate of increase, according to Dr. M. Tidy, the country's population twenty generations hence will be 27,200,000,000, or enough to fill twenty earths with the present density of population.—Brooklyn Eagle

—The list of members of the Fiftieth Congress present a number of Presidential names. There is a Washington, an Adams, a Taylor and a Hayes. Washington, who is from Tennessee, will be the first of the name to sit in Congress. For many years the letter Y has been represented in Congress, but now it can boast the two names Yoder and Yost.—Chicago Times.

—An Indian child born recently in Big Valley, Shasta County, Cal., is possessed of six well formed toes on each foot and the same number of fingers on each hand, besides having both sides of its face covered with hair. The mother gave birth to a child about a year ago marked in a similar manner, but it sickened and died, and this last is in a fair way for taking the same road.—Chicago Tribune

—John Quincy Adams, during his long term of service in Congress, was never known to be late at his seat. On one occasion, just as the clock struck the hour for the commencement of the session, a member inquired of the Speaker if it was not time to call the House to order. "No, sir," was the reply; "Mr. Adams is not yet in his seat. Just then Mr. Adams appeared, and it was shown that the clock was three minutes fast.—Boston Globe.

—The heroes whom great men worship always have an interest in the eyes of students of humanity. General Wolseley is a great man, and it is therefore interesting to discover who in his eyes towers above their fellows. He reveals this secret in the new Macmillan. "I have," he says, "met but two men who realize my ideas of what a true hero should be. My friend Chinese Gordon was one; General Lee was the other." For General Lee Lord Wolseley's admiration is almost unbounded. He devotes a whole paper to him. His character is declared to be without spot.—N. Y. Herald.

"A LITTLE NONSENSE."

—Young Lady (reading card just brought in)—"Frank S. S. Smith." Young Man (who dislikes the interruption)—"Dear me, his mother must have stuttered when he was christened."

—Now that we have had marriages by telegraph, by telephone and by proxy, the next innovation upon the sacred ceremony to be expected is marriage on the installment plan.—Lowell Citizen.

—"Mrs. Fangle is a homœopathist, isn't she?" remarked Mrs. McSwilligen during a call on Mrs. Snaggs. "No, I don't think she is," was the reply. "She's very seldom at home when I call."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

—"That couple who has just passed us remind me of a sort of fruit which is neither palatable or desirable," said a gentleman to a friend. "What makes them so objectionable?" asked his friend. "They are a prickly pair."—N. Y. Ledger

—"Lighthead," exclaimed his excellent wife, testily, "you are a bigger fool than I took you to be." "Thanks," he said gratefully, but meekly, "that is to say, I grow on you with longer acquaintance. Ah, my owness own, you haven't found me out yet."—Burdette.

—She Was a Crusher —

They quarreled, as lovers sometimes will,
Vowed they'd be strangers evermore,
And never sigh "It might have been!"
He called one day, she met him at the door,
He said, as he touched his derby brim,
"Miss Brown, is it not? Is your father in?"
She eyed him with a scrunching grin,
And said, in a tone his soul appalled
"He is not, who shall I tell him called?
—Harper's Bazar.

—Direct from Cashmere.—Customer—"How much did you say for these pants?" Moses Rubenstein—"Two dollars and a halluf. Dake dem now and I makes it two and a kavorter. Dey is de finest cashmere, mine frendt." Customer (doubtfully)—"They are, are they? Well, I dunno—they don't look like it." Rubenstein—"Don't look like——. See here, my frendt, we know dese pants is de genevine ardicle, because we import dem direct from Cashmere. Dake dem now an' I'll make it two dollars."—Philadelphia Call.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Att'y, Clay Co., Texas, says. "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying he "positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters."

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malarial Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequalled. Price, 50c and $1 at J. A. Swearingen's Drug Store. a6

DAILY REPUBLICAN.

R. K. HAMSHER. J. R. MOSSER.

HAMSHER & MOSSER, Prop't'rs.

DECATUR, ILLINOIS.

TUESDAY EVE., MAY 31, 1887.

GEN. MCNULTA, receiver of the Wabash Railroad, closed an interview with a Chicago newspaper, on the subject of the Inter-State Commerce Law, as follows: "Of necessity the law is crude and imperfect in many of its features, but in the end I have no doubt it will result in producing legislation that will be alike to the interests of the people and of the railroads."

IF the people of Decatur expect that their city is going to boom while they sit still, they will find themselves mistaken. The board of trade can do much to help the town, but they cannot do it all. They must be aided and seconded by the people, who are, after all, the real masters of the situation. The board of trade is only an agency in their hands, and they must not expect it to do everything unaided.

THE legislative committee to investigate the death of B. G. Pendro, of Moultrie county, at the Southern Insane Asylum, report that the cause of death was not maltreatment by the asylum authorities. The deceased, they found, was at times violent and abusive, that in one of these paroxysms of rage he struck a large and powerful patient named Anderson, who in turn knocked Pendro down, his head striking the post of a chair, which, it is inferred, produced concussion of the brain, from which death resulted.

INTERNAL revenue receipts last year amounted in the aggregate to a little less than $118,000,000. It is estimated that the surplus coming into the Treasury now every month, when no bonds are within the Government's option, will be at the rate of about $125,000,000 a year. Will the Democrats abolish the whole of the internal revenue taxes, will they cut off $125,000,000 from tariff duties alone, or will they make a sort of half-and-half cut on each class of revenue? These are the problems which will confront the dominant party when Congress meets, whether in extra or regular session.

THE Prince of Wales, it has often been said, has a presentiment that he will never be King of England. This does not mean that he fears England is likely to change its form of government soon, but simply that he expects to die before the Queen does. It is not true, however, as reported, that there is no instance on record of a British monarch who has reigned fifty years being succeeded by his son or daughter. There are but three reigns in English history which have exceeded fifty years. Those of Henry III., Edward III and George III. Edward was succeeded by his grandson, but a son followed both. Henry and George. The Prince of Wales is not yet 46 years of age, while the Queen is 68. But she does not belong to an abdicating race, and the prospects at present seem favorable for her life being prolonged eight or ten years more.

Chicago Shut Out 10 to 0.

The members of the Decatur club made a ten strike at the ball park Monday afternoon in the presence of a large audience fully 1,000 of ladies and gentlemen who love the national game and like to see the boys at their best. The opponents were the Chicago Kents, an organization that is a part of the city league of Chicago. The morning game was 6 to 5 in favor of Decatur, and many who went out in the afternoon fully expected to see Decatur done up in short order, but it was quickly seen that while our boys didn't have a walk-over by any means, they were in the diamond to play ball from the start, and they manfully kept up their slugging and base running to the end. Staley and Callender did nobly in the points, the former striking out a dozen raw of the visitors. He never pitched a steadier game. He was well supported at all points, except by P. Lawrence in the right, who had a broken finger, and who let two flies get away from him. The Chicagos got men on third base three times, once when there was but one man out, at which time there was also a man on second. The next two batters struck out while trying to find Staley's down shoots. Cal. of them. The batters did not. Near the close the contest was chiefly interesting to see if Chicago could get just one run. Two men went out on flies to Conley and Turner, when base-stealer Parker made a scratch three-bagger. It looked then as if McElwee might bring him in, but instead he knocked a liner to Staley, who nipped it promptly, thus giving the visitors a basket of nine round eggs to take home. The score was

Base hits, Decatur, 11; Chicago, three bagger, Parker; batteries, Decatur, Staley and Callender; Chicago, Conley and Turner. Earned runs, Decatur, 4; struck out by Staley, 12; by Conley, 6; passed ball, Callender; time of game, 1:50. Umpire Umbaugh, manager of the Kents.

The Kents are all nice, gentlemanly boys, and will always find a welcome here. Tibbin, who headed the batting list for the visitors, and struck out three times, says Staley is the most puzzling pitcher he ever faced.

In the seventh inning while Whiting was trying to get under Conley's long hit, he made a slip and sprained his knee badly. Then Lunt went out of the box and Spalding took his place, Yott going to center and McElwee behind the plate.

Hardin went to left field in the sixth inning, Mills to right, and P. Thompson dropped out. It was a good change.

The Light Guard band was at the park. Bring down the Chicagos next time.

THERE is no denying the fact that Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic is the most successful blood purifier ever put on the market. Its wonderful cures in all stomach, kidney and liver troubles has brought out many imitations. It restores debilitated nerve tissues, restoring the force lost by sickness, mental work or the excessive use of liquor, opium and tobacco. Dr A. J Stoner will supply the genuine at 50 cents a bottle. 3b

WE desire to correct an impression prevailing that we have given up the furnace trade. On the contrary, we shall continue to sell the Palace King Furnace, making it one of our specialties; and to that end we have secured the services of Mr. B. W. THE NATIONAL DRILL.

A Most Agreeable Conclusion to a Week of Successful Military Events.

Twenty Thousand People Witness the Award of Prizes and the Concluding Military Exercises.

Full List of the Successful Competitors, and Prizes Awarded--Striking Tents--A Deserted Camp.

The National Drill—Award of Prizes.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The National drill came to a most agreeable conclusion yesterday afternoon, when the prizes were awarded by General Sheridan to the successful competitors. The sun shone resplendant upon the gaily attired troops as they were drawn up in company front upon the drill grounds, facing fully twenty thousand spectators, who cheered loudly as the prizes were awarded. Enthusiastic soldiers threw up their hats and cheered, while fair ladies waved their parasols and handkerchiefs as the companies in which they were particularly interested received prizes.

At half-past three o'clock the judges from the grand stand announced the following list of prizes and order of excellence of competing regiments, battalions, companies and commands:

Regiments—First Regiment of Virginia, solo competitor, prize, a magnificent stand of colors, with gold, silver and bronze medals to the officers.

Battalions—Washington Light Infantry, first prize, $3,000; second, Louisville Legion of Kentucky, second prize, $1,500; third, Fifth Rhode Island.

Infantry companies—First, Lomax Rifles, Company B, First Alabama, first prize, $5,000; second, Company D, First Minnesota, second prize, $2,500; third, Belknap Rifles, Company B, third Texas, third prize, $1,500; fourth, National Rifles, Washington, D. C., fourth prize, $1,000; fifth, San Antonio Rifles, Texas, fifth prize, $600; sixth, Indianapolis Light Infantry; seventh, Toledo Cadets; eighth, Washington Light Infantry, Company B; ninth, Vicksburg Volunteer Southrons; tenth, Company A, Fifth Rhode Island; eleventh, Muscatine Rifles; twelfth, Alexandria Light Infantry; thirteenth, Sheridan Guards, New Hampshire, fourteenth, Walker Light Guards, Company B, First Virginia; fifteenth, Custer Guards, Second Michigan; sixteenth, Fort Wayne Rifles, Second Indiana; seventeenth, Wooster City Guards, Eighth Ohio; eighteenth, Jackson Rifles, First Michigan; nineteenth, Louisiana Rifles; twentieth, Richmond Grays, First Virginia; twenty-first, Nowley Rifles, First Maine; twenty-second, Company C, First Battalion, New Jersey; twenty-third, Company E, First Minnesota; twenty-fourth, Mol neaux Rifles, Company D, Thirty-second New York; twenty-fifth, Company A, Washington Cadet Corps; twenty six h, Eighth Separate Company, Rochester, N Y; twenty-seventh, Governor's Guard, Virginia; twenty-ninth, Company A First Virginia; thirtieth, Company C, Second Connecticut.

Light Artillery—Battery B, Indianapolis Light Artillery, first prize, $1,500; Milwaukee Light Battery, second prize, $1,000

Machine Guns—Cincinnati battery, first prize, silver trophy and $750; Battery A, Louisville Legion, second prize, $50).

Zouaves—First, Chicago Zouaves, first prize, $1,000; second, Memphis Merchants' Zouaves, second prize, $750; third, Keok Zouaves

Individual Drill—Private H. G Stack, San Antonio Rifles, first prize, gold medal and $100, First Sergeant Charles F Conrad, Co. B, Washington Light Infantry, second prize, silver medal and $75, First Sergeant S. R. Wagner, Co. A, Louisville Legion, third prize, bronze medal and $50

As soon as the prizes were awarded, the various companies gave brief exhibition drills, and at five o'clock approaching they formed in regular lines for the final dress parade. The troops were quickly inspected, and the order "company right wheel by fours," soon left the green lawns without a single soldier, and the National drill had come to an end.

From a military point of view the drill may be called a success, but this can hardly be said of the venture financially. The last and closing exhibition of the pyroramo of the historic naval engagement between the Monitor and the Merrimac was witnessed last night by fifteen thousand people

Breaking Camp.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—There were signs of approaching dissolution at Camp George Washington early yesterday morning. Some of the organizations had already taken their departure, and others were getting ready to break camp. The Second Virginia, the Sarsfield Guards, of New Haven, and the Cayuga Lake Cadets left for home during the day, and several other companies left last night. By noon the camp was quite deserted, as most of the companies that had not already started homeward were participating in the Decoration Day parade of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Several Southern companies, including the Lomax Rifles and the Vicksburg Southrons paraded as escort to the G. A. R. which included a body of colored men. In order that there should be no misunderstanding General Carnahan notified the commanding officers of these organizations in the morning that there would be colored organizations in line, but no objection was made. When the colored post of the G. A. R. passed the Southern soldiers, the latter presented arms, paying the same honors as were paid the other posts

In Memoriam Ben. Perley Poore.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—A meeting of Washington journalists and correspondents was held here yesterday to take action upon the death of the veteran journalist, Ben. Perley Poore. Almost every member of the profession now in the city was in attendance. After feeling remarks by several gentlemen present, resolutions were adopted, expressing regret at his death and assurances of heartfelt sympathy for his family.

At a meeting of the members of the Gridiron Club yesterday afternoon, similar expressions of sorrow and regret were recorded, and Wm E. Barret, editor of the Boston Advertiser, a member of the club, was telegraphed to procure and have sent to Indian Hill a suitable floral memorial in the name of the club.

End of the Stove Molders' Lockout.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 31.—The following dispatch was received yesterday at the headquarters of the Stove Founders' National Defense Association:

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 30, 1887.

TO HENRY CRIBBEN, PRESIDENT S. F. N. D. ASSOCIATION: We have now a full force of molders, and are manufacturing all the goods needed to supply our trade, and request the immediate return of our patterns.

THE BRIDGE & BEACH MFG. CO.

On receipt of the above telegram, President Cribben at once telegraphed the following order:

TO D. M. THOMAS, SECRETARY, CINCINNATI, OHIO: Order returned immediately the Bridge & Beach Manufacturing Company and other patterns, now in the hands of the members of the Defence Association, to the respective foundries to which they belong, and inform the members to resume operations when ready.

[Signed] HENRY CRIBBEN, President.

President Cribben says this order virtually ends the long lockout against the stove molders; and that it will be but a short time until the stove foundries throughout the country will have resumed active operations.

The Coke Strike Investigation.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 31.—The investigation of the coke strike has been completed by Wm. H. Bailey and A. A. Carlton, of the general executive board of the Knights of Labor. They will now submit the case to the general executive board. An exhaustive report is being prepared, and a special meeting of the executive board will probably be held this week. Mr. Bailey authoritatively stated yesterday that he will not be a candidate for re-election as master workman of the Miners' National Assembly, No. 135, Knights of Labor. Mr. Carlton will deliver several more speeches in the coke region previous to his return to Philadelphia.

Knocked the Bottom Out of the Record—On Paper.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The single scull race between Wallace Ross and George Hosmer, near Flushing, this afternoon, was the cause of a good deal of merriment and discussion. The conditions as announced were three miles with three turns. For a purse of $1,500. Although the water was choppy and the two men ran amuck twice, and Ross fouled the stake once, yet Ross won in the phenomenal time of 14:05 The judges swear the time is right, but they haven't a very good opinion of the man who measured the course.

Three Brothers Drowned.

PUT-IN-BAY, O., May 31.—While three brothers, John, Henry and Jacob Johnson, were fishing in Lake Erie yesterday, a storm came up, and they signaled the steamer Ferris, which was on its way to Put-In-Bay, to tow them in A line was thrown and made fast to the fishing boat, but in some way the rudder of the boat unshipped and it was immediately swamped. The three men all sank and did not rise again. A high wind and heavy sea prevented the steamer from rendering any assistance, and the bodies were not recovered The men resided on the island and were fishermen.

A Heavy Burglary.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The residence of Dr. DeGraff, one of the finest in Union Hill, N. J, was entered by burglars Saturday night and $12,000 in money and valuables stolen. Entrance was effected by breaking a panel in the basement door with muffled sledges, and the burglars then successfully attacked the doctor's safe without awakening the inmates of the house.

The robbery looks like the work of professionals, but Frederick Kessler, who had been in the doctor's service as a coachman, was arrested as having some knowledge of the robbery.

Will Plead Guilty to Arson.

BROOKLYN, May 31.—Townsend Johnston and his brother Augustus Johnston, who were arrested on suspicion of having caused the fire Saturday night by which Palmer's cooperage and other property valued at $300,000 was destroyed, confessed yesterday that they set fire to the cooperage while intoxicated. They had a grudge against Palmer on account of having been discharged from his employ. They will plead guilty to arson in the third degree when arraigned this morning.

The Shamrock Wins.

NEW YORK, May 31.—In the Atlantic Yacht Club regatta, yesterday, the Shamrock beat everything. On the run out to the buoy she beat the Gracie by four minutes, and on the fourteen mile run home by forty-five seconds, making the entire distance in three hours. The Shamrock also beat the Atlantic seven minutes on the way out and nearly two minutes coming home, practically running away from the Titania.

Shot and Killed His Visitor.

BROOKLYN, May 31.—During a drunken quarrel at No. 91 King street, yesterday afternoon, Patrick Gilmartin, a laborer, shot and killed Wm. Peterson, a friend, who was calling on him. Mr. Gilmartin was arrested, but was too drunk to realize what he had done.

GUADAUR'S VICTORY.

The Great Single Scull Race on Calumet Lake, Chicago Yesterday.

A Very Exciting Contest Rowed in the Midst of a Driving Rain-Storm.

The Plucky Ex-Champion Leads the Race for a Time, but Succumbs to the Strong-Armed St. Louisian.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The three-mile race between Edward Hanlan, the famous Canadian oarsman, and Jacob Gaudaur, of St. Louis, was contested at six o'clock this evening at Pullman, and resulted in a splendid victory for the oarsman from Missouri. The contest was for $5,000, the major portion of the gate receipts, and the championship of America.

Both men were in fine form and made an interesting and exciting race. Gaudaur finished five lengths ahead of Hanlan in 20:29, and apparently could have beaten the ex-champion by a dozen lengths had he been so disposed, but he stepped active work when in front of the grand stand and pulled to the finish line in a very slow and easy manner.

The contest attracted a great crowd of people from this city, and the town of Pullman overflowed with humanity. From ten o'clock until four stiff breezes blew over the lake, and the water ran so high that a race at all seemed impossible.

At one time a furious wind storm, accompanied by rain, passed over the town, driving the spectators in-doors, and causing a universal feeling that the race would have to be postponed. But as the evening drew near the wind subsided, and the water of Lake Calumet became calmer, and there was a prospect of fair weather conditions for a good contest.

There were six thousand people in the grand stand, and many thousand along the shore, when shortly before six o'clock referee Hamilton Busby, of the Turf, Field and Farm, of New York, appeared in the launch Jappa, and sailed for the starting bouys. A few minutes after, Gaudaur appeared in his shell, and quietly rowed to the starting place to await the arrival of Hanlan. After some delay Hanlan put in an appearance in his slender shell, wearing a blue and white striped shirt, a cap of the same material and a pair of blue knee breeches.

There was some preliminary work, and then the two oarsmen came close together and the word was given for the start. Hanlan was the first to catch the water but Gaudaur was quick to follow him, and away the two sholls shot through the lake in steady motion, despite the quite heavy waves that were rolling. There was a loud outburst of applause from the vast crowd of spectators as the men swept by the grand stand and settled down to their work. Hanlan, whose course lay farthest from shore, sent his strokes up to thirty-eight to the minute, and was soon in the lead of his opponent. Gaudaur was not far behind, however, and held his own in good shape.

When the men were half a mile from the starting point, Hanlan had drawn ahead half a length, and was spurting with a short stroke. Gaudaur was pulling thirty to the minute in a steady, easy manner, not apparently worried by the champion's lead.

The wind had now freshened considerably, and a driving rain storm set in, but neither oarsman seemed to mind the rough weather, but swept along steadily and gracefully as before. Hanlan increased his lead to a length, when one mile and a quarter from the starting point; but the storm now closed around the men and nothing could be seen of them save two indistinct objects bobbing like corks in the distance. The most powerful glass could not penetrate the thick curtain of rain which was constantly falling between the oarsmen and the spectators. Hanlan was first to turn the distance buoy, and when the rain curtain opened so that he could be seen, it was found that he still had a good lead, but was splashing to and fro in rough waves. When about a mile from home Gaudaur, who had been lying back from one to two lengths, suddenly spurted and slowly, but surely closed the gap Hanlan also spurted and made a determined struggle to keep the lead, but Gaudaur was still fresh after his efforts, and kept up his fast stroke, passing Hanlan harder and harder each moment. Hanlan made one more spurt and then sank back on his sculls just as he neared the grand stand, and appeared almost at a stand still. Gaudaur shot to the front five lengths and held this place to the finish.

Gaudaur's official time was 20:29; Hanlan's, 20:34. The latter made the turn in 10:10. There was great enthusiasm shown by the friends of Gaudaur at his victory, and he was greeted with unbounded demonstrations of delight. He said it was the hardest race he had ever rowed. Hanlan said that he was beaten fairly and squarely, but that he was not yet ready to admit that Gaudaur was the better man.

Memorial Day in New York.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Every-day toil was quite generally suspended in the shops and business houses of this city yesterday, and men, women and children were in holiday attire. There was clear evidence that the day which marks the tribute to the dead was not waning from the public heart as a sacred day. The central event was the parade of the Grand Army men, escorted by the militia. The streets and avenues adjacent to and along the line of march were thronged with spectators. The procession started from Forty-second street and Fifth avenue shortly after ten o'clock. The Seventh, Sixty-ninth, Eighth, Ninth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Twenty-second and Seventy-first regiments and the First and Second batteries acted as escort to the Grand Army of the Republic. Following them came the body of the procession, composed of sixty Grand Army posts, divided into ten divisions and numbering over six thousand men. Then came a large number of veterans' associations, in which were included the Fire and Hawkins Zouaves, the veterans of the Tammany and Mozart regiments, Meagher's Irish Brigade and veterans of the Sixty-ninth, One Hundred and Third and One Hundred and Tenth regiments, the Gardes Lafayette and the Grenadiers Rochambeau. The procession closed with the floral divisions, composed of trucks and wagons draped in flags and loaded with a wealth of flowers to be laid by the several Grand Army posts on their comrades' graves.

Carriages containing Governor Hill, Generals Sherman and Sheridan, Mayor Hewitt and other officials, accompanied by the Governor's staff, were escorted down Fifth avenue to the review stand at Madison square, where they took their places and stood while the procession passed by. In the square stand the monuments to General Worth, who was killed in the Mexican war, and the statues of Farragut and Seward, each of which was handsomely decorated. The large square was thronged with people. The monuments to Washington, Lincoln and Lafayette standing in Union square were decorated with a lavish profusion of flowers, and like Madison square every inch of space was thronged with spectators. Having passed the Washington monument, the National Guard regiments marched to their armories and the various G. A. R. posts went by train or ferry boat to Greenwood, Calvary, Cypress Hill, Evergreen and other cemeteries; to Trinity and Woodlawn cemeteries, and to cemeteries in Staten Island, White Plains, and other places in the vicinity, where they decorated the graves of their comrades and held memorial services.

Lavish but Very Beautiful.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 30.—Decoration day was generally observed in this city. The National Guard and G. A. R. posts had their customary parade in the afternoon, about fifteen hundred men being in line. The floral decorations were lavish and very beautiful.

Observed as a Holiday.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 31.—With the exception of a large parade in the morning there was no demonstration of a public character here yesterday. The day was observed as a holiday more generally than usual.

Business Almost Totally Suspended.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Business was almost totally suspended yesterday. Rain fell in the morning, but the afternoon was pleasant, and all conveyances were crowded with people going to the various cemeteries where the military and civic bodies took part with the citizens in memorial services and the decoration of graves.

The Day at the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Decoration Day observances in Washington were more imposing than usual yesterday. Although the day of mourning for the dead heroes of the war recurs annually, yet the story of their self-sacrifice and devotion as told by eloquent lips at the National capital seems ever fresh. Bright, balmy weather ushered in the morning, and continued throughout the day, much to the joy of thousands who every year visit the several cemeteries around the city on this day and perform a duty of love, strewing the graves of the soldiers with choicest flowers. The custom was very generally observed yesterday. In accordance with an order of the President, all the executive departments were closed to allow the clerks to participate in the religious services at the cemeteries. This they very generally did, and from early morning until far into the day, all the roads leading to the various "cities of the dead" were crowded with people.

The principal point of attraction was, of course, Arlington, the great National Cemetery, lying across the Potomac river, just opposite this city. Thither the great body of G. A. R men marched at twelve o'clock, accompanied by a number of the visiting troops, and preceded by the Marine band.

At the cemetery the ceremonies were simple but impressive. After prayer, a patriotic poem was recited, and orations that breathed a spirit of patriotism and fraternity were delivered by Congressmen Matson, of Indiana and Anderson of Ohio. The vast assembly then spread flowers upon the thousands of graves that decked the green sward, regardless whether the sleeper wore in life, the blue or the gray.

At the Soldiers' Home Cemetery, similar services to those at Arlington took place, General Wager Swayne, of New York, delivering the oration of the day, a brief eloquent tribute to the dead. Prof. E. C. Townsend recited with dramatic force Will Carlton's poem entitled, "The Converse With the Slain."

At the Congressional Cemetery the oration was delivered by Colonel R. F. Hill, of Michigan, and a poem was recited by Mr. Seaton Donohue.

At the smaller cemeteries around the city the graves were strewn with flowers, and the public services were omitted.

The tomb of General Logan was not forgotten, and a prayer by Dr. Newman and an oration by Thomas H McKee, in the presence of a great throng of G A R, and Loyal Legion men and visitors, constituted the services at the grave of the great soldier. Mrs. Logan was present.

Cleveland's Tribute.

CLEVELAND, O, May 31.—This city yesterday paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the Nation's departed defenders. The graves of the veterans in the different cemeteries were profusely decorated. One of the most imposing parades ever witnessed in Cleveland also took place in the afternoon. The tomb of the martyred President Garfield and the monument of Commodore Perry were remembered in a patriotic manner, each being handsomely decorated with flowers.

At the Tomb of the Old Commandr.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Early yesterday morning Mrs. Grant drove to Riverside Park, and entering the tomb of General Grant laid her personal token of flowers upon the steel casket which contains the remanes of her dead husband. The front of the tomb was one mass of flowers. From the cross above the arch, pended a Grand Army badge of purple and blue immortelles, which had been sent by Chicago admirers of the late General. In the center of the iron door were roses sent by Thomas Post, Deer Lodge, Montana, while scattered around were floral offerings from the viceroy of China, President Barrios' widow, and innumerable Grand Army Posts.

About three o'clock the public began to arrive. Among the first were a party of fifty colored boys, who each placed a flower on the tomb.

The exercises began at 3:40 p. m., with the rendition of the funeral wail and triumph of Chopin, after which the ritual of the Grand Army was observed. John Rhey Thompson, D. D., a native of Ohio, pastor of the Washington Square Methodist Episcopal Church, then delivered an eloquent and patriotic address, taking the ground that war is a necessary part of God's providence in the development of the world.

The oration was followed by the "March Funebre," from Beethoven's Twelfth Sonata, performed by the band, and the "National Hymn," sung by the Apollo Club. The bugle call, "Lights Out," then rang out and the services ended with a benediction.

Caught From a Painter's Lamp.

AKRON, O., May 31.—The mansion of Lewis Miller, president of the Chautauqua Assembly, was damaged by fire yesterday to the extent of $10,000. The fire caught from the flame of a painter's lamp, who was burning old paint from the cornice. The Sunday Gazette office was also burned out yesterday. Loss, $1,500; fully insured.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The New French Cabinet as Finally Commissioned by President Grevy.

The Lonesome President Congratulated by Foreign Rulers, and Denounced at Home.

The Early Disintegration of the Cabinet Predicted--Sullen Reception by the Press.

France.

THE NEW CABINET.

PARIS, May 31.—The announcement is made officially that President Grevy yesterday afternoon signed the commissions of the new ministry, which is constituted as follows: M. Rouvier, Minister of Finance and Minister of Posts and Telegraph; M. Failleres, Minister of Interior; M. Flourens, Minister of Foreign Affairs; M. Spuller, Minister of Public Instruction, Fine Arts and Worship; M. Mazeau, Minister of Justice; General Feron, Minister of War; Admiral Barbey, Minister of Marine; M. Dautresme, Minister of Public Works; M. Barbe, Minister of Agriculture.

PARIS, May 31.—President Grevy received a large number of telegrams from London, Berlin, Vienna and other European capitals yesterday, expressing gratification at the exclusion of General Boulanger from the new ministry. These telegrams are not understood to come from the gentlemen signing them as representing their official opinions, but merely expressing their feelings as private individuals. Still, much stress is laid upon the high official standing of many of their authors by the partizans of M. Grevy, as showing how narrowly France has escaped losing confidence with the powers by the elimination from the cabinet of the man whose ambition would have led him to involve the country in unprovoked war. The self-satisfying view taken of the situation by the Grevy faction—and it is a faction—is not, however, shared by the great majority—the populace—who can be induced to see things only as they are, and public demonstrations plainly and emphatically expressing their feelings may be set down as sure to occur. That the new cabinet will last a fortnight nobody believes, and many look for its disintegration within the present week. The action of General Laussier, whose presence in the War Office was relied upon by M. Rouvier to inspire foreign confidence in the Ministry, in announcing to his colleages his refusal to support a proposition to withdraw the Military bill introduced by General Boulanger, and his subsequent decision to remain in his old place as military governor of Paris, was a heavy blow to the new Premier, and the fact that the number of gentlemen who were willing to enter an anti-Boulanger ministry was insufficient to fill all of the offices, compelling the Premier to assume two of them himself, in addition to the presidency of the Council, and leaving one, the ministry of Commerce, yet to be filled, is equally humiliating. Advantage is taken of these points by the Clemenceau party to heap ridicule upon the new government, to predict its immediate downfall, and to declare that M. Clemenceau, through whose opposition its overthrow will be brought about, will form the next cabinet, with General Boulanger as Minister of War.

The new cabinet, whose commissions were signed by President Grevy last evening, meets with a very sullen reception at the hands of this morning's Republican press.

The Presidential Fishing Party.

SARANAC LAKE HOUSE, N. Y., May 31.—Shortly after six o'clock yesterday morning President Cleveland arose and breakfasted. About eight o'clock, in company with Colonel Lamonte and Dr. Roesman, he started down the lake to troll for trout. They were gone about three hours. The President had the poorest luck of any one in the party, only catching one trout. After dinner Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, Colonel and Mrs. Lamonte, Dr and Mrs. Rossman and Mr Riddle drove to Roy Brook House, in buckboards. The trout preserve there was opened to give Mr. Cleveland a good fishing ground, and shortly before sunset the President cast his flies. In a short time he had made a fine catch, and when he returned to the hotel for supper he proudly exhibited the string of fish to the guests. Both the President and Mrs Cleveland are in fine health and spirits.

John Ullrich Hurt.

On Sunday evening Mr. John Ullrich was seriously injured while trying to drive a number of young horses in a field on his farm three miles west of Lovington. The horses stampeded, and before Mr. Ullrich could get to a place of safety he was knocked down and run over by one or more of the colts. One of his shoulders was seriously bruised, and he received an ugly cut over the right eye. A letter received from Lovington this morning conveys the information that Mr. Ullrich will be sufficiently recovered in a day or two to come home. His son went to the farm this noon.

The Warrick Case.

The "Dr." Warrick case drew like a 5 cent circus at Justice Curtis' court this forenoon. The room was crowded, and people peered in from the open door and through the windows in the Brunswick Hotel office. The wife of the prisoner was there in tears and wearing a thick veil. After consultation the defendant waived examination, and in default of bail was taken back to jail by Constable Harris. On the way he consulted with Isaac Rogan and Stanton Fields. The bond was fixed at $150. The People were represented by Thomas Lee, and the defendant by I. A. Buckingham. The impression prevails that there will be no trouble about making the charge of practicing medicine without license against Warrick stick. He seems to realize that fact himself since the woe has come upon him. He may secure bail. If he does, in all probability he will take a trip out of town and forget to come back. That is what he should have done when he started for Mattoon.

WHITING and Yott, of the visiting ball club, were arrested last night by a squad of Decatur police, for an alleged disturbance. The boys were having a good time among themselves, and say they were disturbing no one. But it appears the police looked at the matter differently, and wouldn't let up until they had them in the Franklin Street cooler. A friend signed a bond for their release and they went home on the midnight train.

THE Board of Trade officers have established headquarters in the front room, second floor, southeast corner of the new Haworth Block.

Sales of Real Estate.

Mary Whitsit to Mary R. Tangney, lot 15, in block 18, Carver's addition, $795.

John P. Ryder to Charles T. Kinkaid, lots 15 and 16, in block 11, Carver's addition, $1200.

Packed.

Maud Atkinson, who is playing an extra engagement of three nights this week, had the hall packed to the doors again last evening to see "The French Spy." The play for to-night will be "The New Magdalen." Many costly costumes will be worn.

Trouble.

An assault case from Macon and Blue Mound will be heard in Curtis' court this afternoon.

"Dutch" Holland has had his father-in-law, John Corey, arrested on a peace warrant. Trial before Curtis.

IN all probability the Liddle furniture business will be conducted at the old stand. An invoice of the stock, which is valued at $40,000, will be made this week.

THE street cars were well managed yesterday by Supt. Ferguson and his assistants. About 3,000 people rode on the cars during the day.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Dora Walston departed last night for Minneapolis, Minn., on a visit.

W. W. Tedford, M. D., of Cincinnati, Ohio, is a guest at the St. Nicholas.

David Diller, of Albany, Texas, is in the city on a visit.

Misses Chloe and Grace Shoemaker are visiting friends at Springfield.

Frank M. Young left for Bloomington this morning. The wedding will occur at 11 a. m. to-morrow.

Rev. Charles A. Crane, of Hillsboro, arrived in the city last night from Hillsboro.

Walter Strunge, auditor for the T. H. & P. road, went to Paris this noon on business.

Mrs. John Ullrich, who went to Lovington yesterday morning to visit her husband, returned to the city this noon.

Wm. Hurbert, who has been in the grain business at Boody, where he also held the office of justice of the peace, has gone back to Macon to reside.

Michael Troutman got in from Mattoon yesterday by way of Moultrie county. He relates a story of his experience that sounds like a romance.

James Lunt, of Racine College, pitcher for the Kents, was in no way connected with the alleged disturbance last night. He was a guest of friends in the city over night, and departed for Chicago at noon to-day.

ON her return home last evening, Miss Neva Stewart, sister of Mrs. W. R. Buckmaster, was confronted by a party of friends who had arrived during her absence. It is needless to say she knew what it meant, and she entertained her guests splendidly. Among the gentlemen guests was Mr. Baker, of Keokuk, Ia., who departed for his home early this morning.

SMELLING SALTS are now carried in a tiny little metal box with chain. They are imported, and only reach the nostrils of a select few.

THE good opinion of the public, in regard to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, is confirmed by clergymen, lawyers, public speakers, and actors. All say it is the best remedy for affections of the throat and lungs.

AT the close of the Memorial exercises at Greenwood, Goodman's band played a memorial selection at the grave of their old leader, Prof. A. Goodman, and the Decatur Guards decorated with flowers the graves of the departed members of the company.

DICKENS works only 20 each, at Saxton's book store. m13tf

JOHN SHERMAN will be at Springfield to-morrow, and Decatur will be largely represented in the crowd. The dollar excursion train will leave Decatur at 7:30 o'clock in the morning.

Just Received,

A fresh invoice of Parasols, comprising some 300 or more of the handsomest, most perfect in make and style of any similar lot of merchandise we ever handled. IN MEMORY OF THE DEAD.

Impressive Memorial Services at Greenwood—Full Text of Rev. Prestley's Address.

The Music—Strewing Flowers on the Graves by Children.

Greenwood cemetery, where sleep many heroic soldiers who went forth in the trying time of this country's history to bravely battle for the preservation of the Union, was thronged with people on Monday afternoon, the vast assemblage being estimated at 7,000. It was Memorial Day, the occasion on which our patriotic people love to gather about the sacred mounds and offer tender tributes of words and song, and garlands of bright flowers to fallen braves—a custom that is religiously observed with each recurring anniversary where love of country exists. The morning was bright and cool and at one o'clock the visitors and citizens, many bearing bouquets of flowers in their hands, began to gather on the streets and wend their way toward the cemetery. Under the direction of the chief marshal, Col. A. C. Waterhouse, with Major F. L. Hays as assistant, the procession formed near the park and marched to Greenwood. It was a long procession, headed by Goodman's band, followed by the Decatur Guards, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Modern Woodmen, Dunham Post No. 141, G. A. R., the Relief Corps, members of the city council, the speakers, the choir, and children in carriages, fire department, citizens in carriages and on foot. The sidewalks were lined with people. The platform was erected near the flag-pole in the western part of the cemetery, and about it were flags and flowers. The choir comprised Mrs. K. Harwood, Minnie Bachman, F. W. Westhoff, Elmer Miller and A. Lindermood, Minnie Stickle organist. Maude Barnes, Vaughnie Hoy, Madge Hays, Edna Seger, Mae Harwood, Dot Durfee, Bonnie Bartholomew, Hattie Martin, Abbie Durfee, Sadie Roby, Ada Haines, Annie Roby and Nellie Moore, the daughters or granddaughters of veteran soldiers, occupied places on the platform, and each held a bouquet of flowers.

John A. Barnes, commander of Dunham Post, directed the exercises, which opened with the "Dolore" selection by Goodman's Band, followed by the reading of National, Department and Post orders, by Adjutant T. W. Evans, prayer by Chaplain George R. Steele, and singing, "Sleep, Sacred Dust of Noble," by the choir.

"The Wounded Soldier Dying," was the title of a beautiful poem, delivered with fine effect by Prof. Harry C. Franck, the elocutionist. In the rendition of this number the choir assisted the Professor.

THE ADDRESS.

The orator of the day, Rev. W. H. Prestley, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was then presented by Commander Barnes, who on behalf of the Post and the people, took occasion to thank him for his kindness in consenting to deliver the memorial address on such short notice, taking the place of Rev. T. W. Pinkerton, who had been taken suddenly ill. The request from the G. A. R. committee came to Rev. Prestley as late as Sunday evening. Below is the full text of Rev. Prestley's tribute to the heroic dead:

A quarter of a century! What a contrast does this day present with the closing days of May 1862. In the East Gen. George. B. McClellan was at the head of the grand army of the Potomac. Twenty-five years ago to-morrow the advance of that army had met the Confederate forces at Fair Oaks and been severely defeated. Twenty-five years ago last February Jefferson Davis had been inaugurated president of the Confederate states for six years. In the west, twenty five years ago, Gen. Grant had taken Fort Donelson—his first prominent step to high position and world-wide fame. Twenty five years ago the great naval battle before Memphis was pending. Twenty-five years ago the clouds of fierce battle were beginning to gather before Richmond, where, after a bloody battle of seven days, some 16,000 Union soldiers laid down their precious lives. Twenty-five years ago the North was just beginning to realize the magnitude of the terrible struggle inaugurated between the two sections of our country. How little did the most prominent statesmen in the North grasp the magnitude of that civil war inaugurated by the firing on Fort Sumpter. One of the most astute of them had lightly prated of ending the rebellion in 90 days. Others looked upon it simply as a summer campaign; and many that promptly responded to the first call for troops regarded it much in the light of a holiday frolic. Indeed, the great mass of the Northern people could not feel that the life of the nation was in the greatest jeopardy. But when in July, 1863 President Lincoln issued his call for 600,000 men, the scales began to fall from their eyes. It was bringing the war into six hundred thousand homes and hearts of the North with all its stern and painful reality. It was this call that aroused the patriotic feeling of the North as nothing yet had done. They began to realize that the republican form of government was at stake; that the very life of the nation was in extreme peril.

The heads of the despotisms of the old country were becoming deeply interested. And as the war cloud deepened and blackened they could not conceal their satisfaction and even joy. Some of them went further, and manifested anxiety to give all possible countenance and moral aid to the rebellion, feeling that whatever rendered republicanism unstable and weak, only tended to strengthen and perpetuate monarchy. And if republicanism would only now prove a failure—if the fate of the roman republic was only a foreshadowing of the great American republic—their thrones would stand firmer and their dynasties more lasting. But there were millions in those lands, the subjects of these despotisms, whose deepest sympathy went out to this nation in her terrible throes of agony. Prayers went up from their hearths to the God of battles, and words of cheer and encouragement were sent to us across the seas. They trusted that the brighter light of this nineteenth century, the wide-spread intelligence and the lessons of the past would prove effectual, more than a match for sectional ambition and madness. And their hopes were well founded. The patriots of a quarter of a century ago were the genuine descendants of those of 1776. In the hour of trial they proved true to the spirit of their revolutionary fathers. The soil of South and North Carolina, of Virginia and Maryland was just as precious in their eyes as that of Massachusetts, New York or Pennsylvania. It was to them just as essential to the integrity of the national domain. Men might prate about a Confederacy and compacts, but down deep in the hearts of these patriots there was no North, no South, no East nor West, when the nation's life was in peril. The patriot blood of the fathers had consecrated the soil of all these states. That blood had mingled on the battle fields of the war of 1812, and it had in common dyed the sandy plains of Mexico. And now if the sword was going to sever the ties forged by the heroism of the fathers, their blood should freely be shed in strengthening those ties. The stars on the azure field of the flag representing the one section shone just as brightly in their eyes as the stars representing the other. The great names of the one on the historic pages as brightly reflected the great names of the other. A common despotism had made the colonial life equally burdensome to the fathers, and had driven them together. Common interests had drawn them together. Common dangers, hardships, hopes and fears, joys and sorrows had cemented them togetherer. And thus God had made these original states one and indivisible; and the patriots of a quarter of a century ago pledged their comforts at home, their property, their lives and sacred honor that what God had joined together in this respect, man should not put asunder. Nobly was the pledge redeemed. Conscious that the glory of the past shone through the decades of years full upon them; conscious that the great cloud of witnesses, the spirits of American heroes which had gone up in the smoke of battle on land and sea, were around them; conscious that millions of tear filled eyes were watching them; conscious that morning, noon and night prayers were ascending in their behlf to the God of battles from closet, family altar and sacred desk; above all, conscious that the destiny of millions yet unborn was in their hands, and that God and justice were on their side. Like brave men they fought, and like brave men they fell. Nor did they fall in vain. The scenes of final victory they heard not; the salvos of joy and gladness that the fraternal strife was ended, they heard not. No! No sound of battles shall awake them to glory again.

War is a terrible thing—the scourge of nations. And yet bloody as it is, lacerating and rending human hearts as it does, desolating homes, widowing wives, making children fatherless; and sweeping the land as with the besom of destruction; yet it is out of just such throes of agony that civilization has made its greatest strides. What race of people, depraved, sinful and selfish, has ascended willingly up the ladder to brighten skies and better surrounding? But always in public as well as in private life, in national as well as in individual history, the purchase price has always been equivalent to the precious blessings gained. It is so in the history of culture, of the development of trut; in a word, of all that makes the individual or the nation great and influential among their fellows. Even the progress of the church in the world is no exception. As the poet has said—

"By the light of burning heretics, Christ's bleeding feet we track, Tolling up new Calvaries, ever with the cross that turns not back."

So it may be said of Liberty—

"By the light of blazing guns, Liberty's bleeding feet we track, Marching over new battle fields, ever with the flag that turns not back."

Peace to day with white wings hovers over a nation one and undivided. Peace to day dwells in the heart of the northerner and the Southerner. The boys who wore the blue and the gray sit around the same camp fires. The old flag with increasing stars waves proudly over them both, and deep down in their heart of hearts each is saying to himself, "God bless the old flag with its stars and stripes." The blood of the blue and the gray has not been shed in vain. A bright day is dawning on those fields where the blood of brothers redeemed the soil, and one day the land, shrouded in the smoke of battle, will be the garden spot of the nation, and her vast resources of mountain and plain will replenish the treasuries of the nation with gold.

The band gave a selection when the Post firing squad by order of the Commander marched to the graves of the soldier dead and fired the regulation salute, and while the band played a funeral dirge the children went to the graves and laid floral offerings on the mounds. It was a beautiful and affecting ceremony. The choir and congregation joined in singing "America" and the "Doxology," when Rev. Prestley pronounced the benediction. The organizations formed in line and the people slowly left the grounds.

A FLORAL MONUMENT.

One of the special decorations was a monument to the unknown dead, erected by the Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans. It was a wooden shaft over seven feet high with wide base, erected on the western part of the soldiers' burial block. It was covered with muslin and decked with evergreens and flowers. At the base in evergreen letters was the word "Unknown."

Parlor Meeting.

All ladies interested in the subjects of Health and Heredity are invied to attend the meeting to be held at the residence of Mrs. Shull, corner of Eldorado and North Main streets, to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

Burial at Baltimore.

Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock Mrs. Eva Hamburger died at her home on West Cerro Gordo street at an advanced age. The deceased was the mother of Mrs. C. H. Bachrach, Miss Rose, and three sons, the eldest of whom resides in Indiana with his family, Jacob and Ben. Hamburger. She was a noble woman, who was greatly beloved by her children and friends. To-day noon the body was taken to Baltimore, Maryland, for interterment beside the remains of her husband.

AS VERY many of the excursionists to Springfield to-morrow will wish to go immediately to Oak Ridge with their lunch baskets, etc., the following instructions sent by the managers of the Springfield Railway company will be found useful: Large open cars will leave the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets every ten minutes. The Wabash depot extends from Washington to Jefferson streets on Tenth, and passengers for Oak Ridge should alight on Jefferson street and proceed to the corner of Fifth, and take the open cars for Oak Ridge. d1

THE W. C. T. U. observed memorial day by placing flowers upon the graves of their sisters and other members of the Temperance Army. The thanks of the union are due to Mr. Boneham, of Oreana, for his generous donation of flowers.

A STIRRING shower of rain came up yesterday afternoon just as the procession started for Greenwood. It lasted but a few moments. It was heavier west of the city.

Y. M. C. A. To-Night.

There will be a meeting of the various committees at the Young Men's Christian Association to-night at 8 o'clock. Each chairman is requested to report for his committee and the General Secretary will give some facts comparing the work for the past two years. Every committee man is requested and all members of the Association are cordially invited to be present.

THERE was a gay time at the home of Mr. Al. Cooper west of the city the other night, the host and hostess on their return from a visit to George Cooper at Macon finding Josie, Jennie and Birdie Holland, Sherman Smith, Charlie Brown, Charles Millspaugh, Andy Smith and Frank Cooper in possession of their home. The whole party remained at the Cooper place over night and returned to the city more than delighted with the visit.

And the resolution requiring him to give an itemized account accompanied with vouchers shall be in full force and effect MANECKE.

The following resolution was on motion of Mr. Ward adopted:

Resolved, That the special auditing committee be authorized to settle with the late county officials as in their judgment would be for the best interests of the county. WARD.

Mr. Ward moved the adoption of the following resolution. Motion prevailed.

Resolved, That the report of the auditing committee be placed on record and published with the proceedings of the Board.

JACOB HANES.

REPORT OF AUDITING COMMITTEE.

To the Hon. Board of Supervisors, Macon Co.:

Your committee, appointed to audit the accounts of the late outgoing officers would report that we have audited the accounts of G. M. Wood, late Treasurer, and have found the statement rendered to this Board at the December meeting correct. In examining the books in his office we found everything accounted for in a systematic manner, very comprehensive and commendable.

It has been the practice for a great number of years to correct over-assessment, or other real or supposed errors, through the Treasurer on the affidavit of the Assessor that errors had been made in assessing. There appears to be no law for correcting errors in this manner, and your committee would recommend that this practice be discontinued.

In auditing the accounts of W. W. Foster, late Sheriff, we find the following items not accounted for:

Your committee would further report that no records have been kept by the late Sheriff of the earnings of his office for serving foreign papers, and we were unable to form any intelligent guess as to what the revenue from this source should be; neither were we able to find any fees from this source accounted for. It is the opinion of the Attorney General that the Sheriff is entitled to the actual necessary expenses incurred in conveying prisoners to the penitentiary and reform school, and the remainder of the amount paid by the state, together with all other fees collected by him, should be paid into the county treasury The county pays him a salary, which is all he is entitled to under the statutes.

In auditing the account of the County Superintendent of Schools, your committee have made a supplementary report, which is herewith attached.

In examining the books for twenty or twenty-five years back, your committee could find but one entry showing what the principal fund of the county was, and this entry your committee believe to be incorrect. From the best information we are led to believe the original amount was not so great, but by collecting principal and accumulated interest together and loaning the gross amount, by this means the principal has reached its present proportions. Your committee would request that this board adopt this report in order that the principal fund, as fixed by your committee, may have a color of legal existence.

Supplemental Report of late Superintendent and Final Settlement:

Which amount has been credited to the county and will appear in clerk's May report.

On the matter referred to your committee as to why costs were not more promptly collected, we prefer to state the facts as they appeared to your committee, and leave the members of this board to form their own conclusions:

From the numerous instances in which we find executions "Returned by order of plaintiff," your committee were led to believe that compromises had been made between plaintiffs and defendants by which plaintiff claims were satisfied, and the county's costs went "where the woodbine twineth." Fee bills are not dependent upon executions ordered by plaintiff, and there is neither law, justice or common sense in allowing costs to be thrown away simply because plaintiff orders executions returned.

The day your committee commenced their labors in checking up the officers' accounts, thirty or forty executions were dumped into the clerks' offices with notations "no property found." From this wholesale manner of transacting legal business, your committee are somewhat in doubt as to whether any serious effort had been made to find property.

On one instance we found an execution issued February 20, 1882, notations of receipts on executions, and also of returns, dated March 30th, 1882. The actual return of the execution to the clerk was December 14, 1886, five years after its issue and payment. In some instances special deputies were appointed and the fees in the cases were given to such deputies. This liberality in donating fees belonging to the county might be considered to be a very questionable generosity.

From the general manner in which the business is transacted, your committee are of the opinion that by the exhibition of a very moderate zeal in the interest of the county, this state of affairs would not exist.

The delicious flavor and healthy properties of sound, ripe fruit are well known, and seeing the need of an agreeable and effective laxative, the California Fig Syrup Co. commenced a few years ago to manufacture a concentrated Syrup of Figs, which has given such general satisfaction that it is rapidly superseding the bitter drastic liver medicines and cathartics hitherto in use. If costive or bilious try it. For sale in 50 cents and $1.00 bottles by Dr. A. J. Stoner, Decatur, Ill.
